TRADING STYLE POLICY'S

Scalping in forex/CFD trading is a trading style that traders utilize to benefit from minor price changes during a short period. In Supreme FX LLC client agreements, the definition of Scalp trading transactions is when traders enter and exit positions in less than 120 seconds on Foreign Exchange and spot Metals, and within 300 seconds on CFD Contracts (including single name stocks, equity indices, future metals, crypto CFDs). Forex/CFD "Scalping" strategies are not permitted on our platform for traders.

Introducing Brokers will NOT receive any fees for transactions that are defined as Scalping transactions for Forex/CFD trades.

STALE TRADING

To ensure the stability and accuracy of the Supreme FX LLC platforms and products, we define Stale Pricing as an old price which does not reflect the most recent updated price figure for the product.

Supreme FX LLC considers any trade executed on these prices as voided and does not reflect the real market price, therefore Supreme FX LLC reserves the right to cancel them immediately.

Virtual Private Server (VPS)

Traders are advised to use VPS but ensure not scalping and abusing the system for front running. Otherwise, trading will be disabled, and trading account will be closed permanently. Supreme FX LLC will have therefore the right to decide on how to proceed with the profits generated for each use case respectively.

Expert Advisors (EA)

Traders are advised not to use EA for trading during the trading journey. If the traders are interested in using the EA, then they should inform their Sales Account Manager prior to the account opening. Accordingly, we can provide catering services to valuable traders. To make sure everything is documented properly, an official email should be sent to tpa@supremefxtrading.net.

If not communicated as described above, Supreme FX LLC will have therefore the right to decide on how to proceed with profits generated for each use case respectively.

All Kinds of Abusive Trading:

means the following actions, but not limited to, pip- hunting, arbitrage, manipulations or exploitation of any temporal and/or minor inaccuracy in any rate or price offered on the Trading Platform, a combination of faster/slower feeds, use of any robots, spiders or other automated data entry.

If any of these scenarios were identified. The client will be informed and deal with accordingly. Supreme FX LLC preserves the right to decide on how to proceed with profits generated for each use case respectively.

MISQUOTES

We have an agency execution model and automatically cover all client positions with executing brokers and liquidity providers. Although we mitigate the risk of invalid price feeds reaching clients through utilizing a price aggregation system which generates a price from multiple liquidity providers (typically in excess of 10 liquidity providers). There are rare occasions where the price can become “skewed”. In such rare instances, if orders are filled at that price, we reserve the right to reverse orders where misquote occurred.

We will investigate these cases and notify the client via e-mail or telephone that trades are canceled. We will always check to ensure that the reversal does not generate an unintended position. If the order is executed and subsequently reversed to open a position, any subsequent order(s) closing this position would also be reversed leaving the net P&L at zero, this way the client will not be disadvantaged by this reversal due to our invalid price delivery.

STALE QUOTES AND MISQUOTES POLICY

● Supreme FX LLC quoted prices on rare occasions may become “Stale” or “Skewed”.

● Supreme FX LLC reserves the right to cancel orders executed at idle or skewed prices.

● Supreme FX LLC will actively monitor/report and investigate such trading activity and if those trades were canceled will notify the client accordingly.

● Supreme FX LLC will pursue the fair treatment of its customers and will use its best endeavors to make sure cancellations are performed fairly and that the client is not disadvantaged by the cancellation.

● That is, there are no inadvertent positions left open and the client's Net Position is in line with the client's positions at the time of correction.
